

SelectHealth Medical Home Recently Recognized as an NCQA Partner in Quality

The NCQA Partner in Quality (PIQ) program recognizes organizations that provide financial incentives or support services to practices seeking recognition for one of NCQA's Recognition programs. SelectHealth qualifies for this program based on providing support to assist practices in transforming to a medical home delivery model, and provides care coordination payments to sites participating in the SelectHealth Advanced Primary Care medical home program. Services offered include technical assistance, learning collaboratives, care management support and enhanced reporting. For more information contact medicalhome@selecthealth.org.

NCQA acknowledges current Partners in Quality in their online Recognition Programs Resource Directory. The directory is an important resource for practices seeking information on organizations that can assist them on their Recognition journey—whether in the form of financial incentives, technical assistance or other means.

As a Partner in Quality, we are now able to provide a code for a 20% discount on the NCQA recognition application fee for practices that are applying for initial recognition (not valid for annual reporting). The discount code may be used for all practices coming through NCQA Recognition (initial only).
